Evidence Assessment Report

Single-claim evidence check | Methodological reference: ANDEKS v0.3

Report ID: BV-CC-2026-EDC004

Assessment date: 2026-11-13

Prepared for: Public illustrative demonstrator

Source accessed: 2026-11-13 (UTC)

01 Claim under assessment

An individual using ChatGPT Free may sell ordinary text output generated by the service, subject to applicable OpenAI terms and policies.

02 Identified primary source

Publisher: OpenAI. Document: What is ChatGPT? (Help Center), FAQ: Can I use output from ChatGPT for commercial uses?

Public URL: https://help.openai.com/en/articles/6783457

Version/publication date: Not established; live help article may change.

03 Assessment boundary

Checks only whether the named OpenAI FAQ supports the exact qualified claim. Limited to ordinary text output on the free ChatGPT plan. No independent legal determination, copyrightability review, third-party rights clearance, API, voice or image output.

04 Evidence extracted from the source

E1. Commercial-use FAQ: OpenAI states that users may reprint, sell and merchandise ChatGPT output, subject to its terms and policies.
E2. The same FAQ expressly covers output generated on both free and paid plans.
E3. The permission is expressly conditional on compliance with applicable terms and policies; it is not unconditional.

05 Evidence standing

SUPPORTED

E1-E3 directly support the qualified commercial-use permission. They do not establish exclusive rights, non-infringement or a guarantee concerning any particular output.

Reasoning & Methodological Record

Continuation of report BV-CC-2026-EDC004

06 Assessment reasoning

Mapping: E1 addresses selling and merchandising; E2 establishes applicability to ChatGPT Free; E3 preserves the terms-and-policies qualification.
Interpretation: The FAQ supports a permission to use output commercially, not an unconditional transfer of all intellectual-property rights.
Why this standing: All elements of the carefully qualified claim are addressed by the identified primary source.

07 Uncertainty and limitations

The live FAQ has no fixed version captured in this report. No immutable source snapshot or cryptographic hash is supplied. No specific output, rights holder, national law or individual transaction was reviewed. Current terms must be rechecked before reliance.

08 Traceability record

Source ID: OpenAI Help Center article 6783457, commercial-use FAQ.
Access/version: 2026-11-13 (UTC); publication version not established.
Evidence handling: Manual documentary reading; evidence items E1-E3. No source file is attached.
Processing environment: Manual assessment and PDF generation; no ARE/ERA run claimed.

09 Methodological basis

This limited assessment demonstrates ANDEKS v0.3 principles of traceability, explicit boundaries and separation of findings from decision authority. SUPPORTED is a BoxVia report label, not a formal ANDEKS normative status.

10 Scope and reliance notice

Restricted to the stated claim, source and boundary. Not certification, legal advice, comprehensive audit or formal ANDEKS normative assessment. Decisions remain with the authorized decision-maker.

Prepared by BoxVia | Independent Analysis, Research & Technology